Pol 309: Public Opinion and Political Psychology
Political Science
The formation and structure of political attitudes and mass belief systems; measurement of political opinions; social and psychological influences on opinion.

Instruction Type(s)
- Lecture: Lecture for Pol 309

Subject Areas
- Political Science and Government, General
- American Government and Politics (United States)

Related Areas
- American Government and Politics (United States)
- Canadian Government and Politics
- Political Science and Government, General
- Political Science and Government, Other