

Anth 360: Political Ecology

SOCIOLOGY & ANTHROPOLOGY

This course examines the cultural politics of nature through a critical engagement with the most pressing environmental issues of the 21st century, such as environmental security and territorial conflict, energy production and toxicity, land management and protected-area conservation, climate change and the green economy.

3 Credits

Prerequisites

- Pre-Requisite: 24 Earned Hours

Instruction Type(s)

- Lecture: Lecture for Anth 360

Subject Areas

- Anthropology

Related Areas

- Physical and Biological Anthropology

