

Soc 335: The Sociology of Food Sociology & Anthropology

An examination of the socio-cultural, economic, and political aspects of food production, distribution, and consumption. Topics include group identities and food choices, the role of food in family activities, food in media, food fads, food as a manufactured product, and food as a global issue.

3 Credits

Prerequisites

• Pre-Requisite: 24 Earned Hours

Instruction Type(s)

• Lecture: Lecture for Soc 335

Subject Areas

• Sociology

