

Soc 366: Political Sociology

Sociology & Anthropology

This course is a sociological examination of power, politics, and ideas, with an emphasis on theories of power, processes of political influence, the legitimization of authority and inequality, ideologies of movement for social change, mass media and public opinion.

3 Credits

Prerequisites

- Pre-requisite: Soc 101
- Pre-Requisite: 24 Earned Hours

Instruction Type(s)

- Lecture: Lecture for Soc 366
- Lecture: Web-based Lecture for Soc 366

Subject Areas

- Sociology

