

Hst 479: Alcohol in the Americas

Arch Dalrymple III Department of History

This course examines how alcohol has influenced the history of the Western Hemisphere. It studies the production, consumption, and the social lives of spirits across a broad swath of North and South America. In the process, it connects the often-separated histories of the United States, Latin America, and the Caribbean.

3 Credits

Prerequisites

- Pre-Requisite: 24 Earned Hours

Instruction Type(s)

- Lecture: Lecture for Hst 479

Subject Areas

- History, General

Related Areas

- American History United States
- Asian History
- European History
- History and Philosophy of Science and Technology
- History, Other

