

Econ 453: An Economic History of the South Economics

This course is a survey of the major economic developments in the South since the Civil War, with special emphasis on Southern economic growth and its effects on the United States generally.

3 Credits

Prerequisites

• Pre-Requisite: 24 Earned Hours

Instruction Type(s)

• Lecture: Lecture for Econ 453

Subject Areas

- Economics, General
- American History United States

