Soc 353: Community Development
Sociology & Anthropology

Community development refers to the broad set of skills and institutions that local communities utilize in an effort to improve the quality of life for all residents. This course examines the history of housing, economic trends, and social policies, both domestically and internationally, that have affected marginalized communities, and the various ways through organizing and capacity building that community development professionals and activists have sought to improve these conditions. Topics will include the provision of affordable housing, community economic development, education and workforce development, food systems, environmental sustainability, international agricultural development, and globalization.

3 Credits

Prerequisites

- Soc 101: Introductory Sociology I
- Pre-Requisite: 24 Earned Hours

Instruction Type(s)

- Lecture: Lecture for Soc 353
- Lecture: Compressed Video for Soc 353
- Lecture: Hybrid Lecture for Soc 353
- Lecture: CV Hybrid for Soc 353

Subject Areas

- Sociology