

Soc 370: Society and Population Health

Sociology & Anthropology

This course will explore human population health from a multidisciplinary perspective, with particular attention to understanding complex health problems and informing solutions from the social sciences. Studies will include insights from community development, sociology, demography, anthropology, geography, and public health. Students will learn from diverse scholars and practitioners through readings, facilitated discussions, guest lectures, panel presentations, and field visits.

3 Credits

Prerequisites

- Instructor Approval Required

Instruction Type(s)

- Lecture: Lecture for Soc 370

Subject Areas

- Sociology

