

Econ 605: Microeconomics I

Economics

This course covers the development of theories of consumption, production, and market interdependence, which influence price, output, and resource allocation.

3 Credits

Prerequisites

- Econ 609: Mathematics for Economists

Instruction Type(s)

- Seminar: Seminar for Econ 605

Subject Areas

- Economics, General

Related Areas

- Applied Economics
- Development Economics and International Development
- Econometrics and Quantitative Economics
- Economics, Other
- International Economics

