

FS 301: Topics in Freedom and Economics College of Liberal Arts

Taught by experts in economics, accountancy, and/or business, this class explores the relationship between freedom and government in economies, fiscal and monetary policies, and markets. May be repeated once with a change in topic

Instruction Type(s)

• Lecture: Lecture for FS 301

Subject Areas

- Economics, Other
- Multi-/Interdisciplinary Studies, Other

