

Anth 425: Bone Detectives II: Biological Profiles

Sociology & Anthropology

This course uses lecture and laboratory techniques to teach bioarchaeological and forensic skeletal analysis. Students will practice human skeletal inventory and biological profile analysis, and will learn the methodological techniques to estimate sex, age, stature, ethnicity, trauma patterns, and pathology.

3 Credits

Prerequisites

- Prerequisite: Anth 405 or consent of the instructor.

Instruction Type(s)

- Lecture: Lecture for Anth 425

Subject Areas

- Anthropology

Related Areas

- Physical and Biological Anthropology

