Emphasis - Law and Economics Description

The purpose of the law and economics emphasis is to provide students with a well-rounded education at the intersection of economics and the law in order to prepare the students for law school. The emphasis provides students with tools of economic analysis that allow them to predict the effects of particular legal rules, to explain why particular legal rules exist, and to analyze whether particular legal rules should exist. In addition, the emphasis provides students with the economic tools and institutional knowledge to examine various aspects of the legal system, torts, contracts, property rights, the economics of litigation, antitrust law, and regulation.

Course Requirements

Students must complete the following 6 credit hours:

- Econ 307. Applied Price Theory
- Econ 312. Law and Economics

Students must also complete 9 credit hours from the following list of courses:

- Econ 313. Advanced Law and Economics
- Econ 324. Experimental Economics
