

Econ 530: Behavioral Economics

Economics

This course extends economic theory to include the role of cognitive, psychological, and social factors in economic decision making.

3 Credits

Prerequisites

- Econ 202: Principles of Microeconomics

Instruction Type(s)

- Lecture: Lecture for Econ 530

Subject Areas

- Economics, General

Related Areas

- Applied Economics
- Development Economics and International Development
- Econometrics and Quantitative Economics
- Economics, Other
- International Economics

