

Econ 313: Advanced Law and Economics

This course covers advanced topics in the economic analysis of efficiency, equity, incentives, and actions under alternative legal rules and institutions in areas of law such as property, contract, tort, crime and punishment, regulation, insurance, and legal administration.

Prerequisites

• Econ 312: Law and Economics

Instruction Type(s)

• Lecture: Lecture for Econ 313

Subject Areas

• Econometrics and Quantitative Economics

Related Areas

- Applied Economics
- Development Economics and International Development
- Economics, General
- Economics, Other
- International Economics

