

Grad 680: Special Topics in Grant Writing

Graduate School

This special topics course is designed to equip students with skills in grant writing. Students will write and submit competitive grant applications. Students will identify appropriate research or other qualifying projects for the grants, develop proposals aligned with the requirements of the grants, integrate feedback to enhance the competitiveness of the grant applications, and critique others' grant applications. Students successful in the class will be able to clearly communicate the merit of their project and the broader impacts.
