

Chin 430: Contrastive Linguistics Modern Languages

This seminar course is a contrastive survey of Chinese and typologically different languages in their linguistic context. Through reading and practice, students develop problem-solving skills and gain a broad understanding of similarities and differences across languages.

3 Credits

Prerequisites

• Chin 330: Introduction to Chinese Linguistics

Instruction Type(s)

• Lecture: Lecture for Chin 430

Subject Areas

• Chinese Language and Literature

Related Areas

- Japanese Language and Literature
- Korean Language and Literature

