The curriculum and courses required for graduation are subject to change at any time without prior notice at the direction of the law faculty.

Concentration - Business Law

Description
The concentration in business law is designed to establish a useful framework for guiding students who have a particular interest in business law and paths for developing a practice-ready skill set.

Course Requirements
The business law concentration recognizes a student's strong emphasis in the business law field. A student may be recognized for a concentration in business law by satisfying the following requirements:

1. Successfully completing 6 core courses;
2. Successfully completing at least 3 intensive credit hours;
3. Successfully obtaining at least 24 credit hours in core courses, intensive courses and other eligible courses.

Due to scheduling constraints and prerequisites, students must plan carefully in order to complete the concentration. For example, Income Taxation of Individuals, a core course, is a prerequisite for both Partnership Taxation and Income Taxation of Corporations and Shareholders, and a student must take at least one of the latter to complete the concentration.

Core courses, intensive credit hours, and other eligible courses are listed below. Each core course is offered at least one term each year (for each of core courses 5 and 6, at least one of the eligible courses is offered each year), but others listed below may not be offered every year. A list of the specific courses offered in any given term that may count toward the business law concentration will be disseminated prior to enrollment for that term.

Core Courses
- Corporations 601
- Bankruptcy 558
- Secured Transactions 571
- Income Taxation of Individuals 613
- Either Partnership Tax 634 or Income Taxation of Corporations and Shareholders 633

Intensive Credit Hours
- Business Planning
2. Income Tax Clinic
3. Transactional Law Clinic
4. Any of the following provided that it has been approved by the designated faculty member for the concentration prior to enrollment for the term in which the credits are earned:
   ◦ Externship*
   ◦ Individual Study
   ◦ Writing class that satisfies the upper-level writing requirement
   ◦ Skills class

* Externship must be related to business law.
