Econ 605: Microeconomics I

Economics

This course covers the development of theories of consumption, production, and market interdependence, which influence price, output, and resource allocation.

3 Credits

Prerequisites
- Econ 609: Mathematics for Economists

Instruction Type(s)
- Seminar: Seminar for Econ 605

Subject Areas
- Economics, General

Related Areas
- Applied Economics
- Development Economics and International Development
- Econometrics and Quantitative Economics
- Economics, Other
- International Economics