Phil 353: Consequentialism

This course explores the branch of normative ethical theory that grounds moral value in consequences, beginning with a survey of the theory's historical foundations and ending with an exploration of new theoretical approaches.

3 Credits

Prerequisites

- Pre-Requisite: 24 Earned Hours

Instruction Type(s)

- Lecture: Lecture for Phil 353

Subject Areas

- Philosophy

Related Areas

- Applied and Professional Ethics
- Ethics
- Logic